Luigi Bernardis is a Spanish Abogada and an Anglo Italian Law Specialist for the International Law Centre based in the London office.

Luigi graduated in law from University of Bologna in 2001. He then did his articles with a well established law firm from Pordenone (his hometown) where had the chance of getting involved in litigation matters both on commercial and private basis.

He moved to London in 2002, when he took an LLM in International and Comparative and Business Law at Metropolitan University. Studying in London gave Luigi the possibility of advancing from a domestic professional environment to an international one.

In fact, from 2003 he started working for an Anglo-Italian Law firm based in the City of London where developed his knowledge of English Law as well as his skills in Private International Law. During his career Luigi has dealt with numerous contentious commercial and family matters together with property cases on an international basis.

Luigi is continuously developing his skills and in 2009 has gained a Spanish law degree form University of Alcalá, one of the oldest and most renowned universities of Spain.

Luigi is fluent in Italian, English, and Spanish.
